ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, both graduates of East Central and now members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Eddie M. Smith symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. It was first worn on April 30, 1986, by Dr. Smith on the occasion of his inauguration as the sixth president of East Central. Suspended on a red, white, and blue ribbon of satin, the medallion displays the name and location of the College and the College motto, "With You in Mind." The names of the six men who have served East Central as president are engraved on the reverse side.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academy apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academy buildings necessitated the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Phil A. Sutphin symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The medallion was initially worn by Dr. Eddie M. Smith on the occasion of his inauguration as the sixth president of East Central in 1986. Suspended on a red, white, and blue ribbon of satin, the medallion displays the name and location of the College and the College motto, "With You in Mind." The names of the seven men who have served East Central as president are engraved on the reverse side.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academy apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academy buildings necessitated the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Phil A. Sutphin symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The medallion was initially worn by Dr. Eddie M. Smith on the occasion of his inauguration as the sixth president of East Central in 1986. Suspended on a red, white, and blue ribbon of satin, the medallion displays the name and location of the College and the College motto, "With You In Mind." The names of the seven men who have served East Central as president are engraved on the reverse side.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academy apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academy buildings necessitated the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Phil A. Sutphin symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The medallion was initially worn by Dr. Eddie M. Smith on the occasion of his inauguration as the sixth president of East Central in 1986. Suspended on a red, white, and blue ribbon of satin, the medallion displays the name and location of the College and the College motto, "With You In Mind." The names of the seven men who have served East Central as president are engraved on the reverse side.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academy apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academy buildings necessitate the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Phil A. Sutphin symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The medallion was initially worn by Dr. Eddie M. Smith on the occasion of his inauguration as the sixth president of East Central in 1986. Suspended on a red, white, and blue ribbon of satin, the medallion displays the name and location of the College and the College motto, "With You In Mind," The names of the seven men who have served East Central as president are engraved on the reverse side.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academy apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academy buildings necessitate the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Phil A. Sutphin symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The medallion was initially worn by Dr. Eddie M. Smith on the occasion of his inauguration as the sixth president of East Central in 1986. Suspended on a red, white, and blue ribbon of satin, the medallion displays the name and location of the College and the College motto, "With You In Mind." The names of the seven men who have served East Central as president are engraved on the reverse side.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academy apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academy buildings necessitate the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Phil A. Sutphin symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The medallion was initially worn by Dr. Eddie M. Smith on the occasion of his inauguration as the sixth president of East Central in 1986. Suspended on a red, white, and blue ribbon of satin, the medallion displays the name and location of the College and the College motto, "With You In Mind." The names of the seven men who have served East Central as president are engraved on the reverse side.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academy apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academy buildings necessitate the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Billy W. Stewart symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The medallion was initially worn by Dr. Eddie M. Smith on the occasion of his inauguration as the sixth president of East Central in 1986. Suspended on a red, white, and blue ribbon of satin, the medallion displays the name and location of the College and the former College motto, "With You In Mind." The names of the seven men who have served East Central as president, prior to Dr. Stewart, are engraved on the reverse side.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academy apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academy buildings necessitate the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Billy W. Stewart symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The medallion was initially worn by Dr. Eddie M. Smith on the occasion of his inauguration as the sixth president of East Central in 1986. Suspended on a red, white, and blue ribbon of satin, the medallion displays the name and location of the College and the former College motto, "With You In Mind." The names of the seven men who have served East Central as president, prior to Dr. Stewart, are engraved on the reverse side.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academic apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academic buildings necessitate the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Billy W. Stewart symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The medallion was initially worn by Dr. Eddie M. Smith on the occasion of his inauguration as the sixth president of East Central in 1986. Suspended on a red, white, and blue ribbon of satin, the medallion displays the name and location of the College and the former College motto, "With You In Mind." The names of the seven men who have served East Central as president, prior to Dr. Stewart, are engraved on the reverse side.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academic apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academic buildings necessitate the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Billy W. Stewart symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The bronze medallion was purchased in 2015 and depicts the college seal adopted during the college's 2020 Vision strategic planning process. It is suspended from a bronze chain with the names of the eight men who have served East Central as president on individual banners separated by links.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academic apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academic buildings necessitate the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Billy W. Stewart symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The bronze medallion was purchased in 2015 and depicts the college seal adopted during the college's 2020 Vision strategic planning process. It is suspended from a bronze chain with the names of the eight men who have served East Central as president on individual banners separated by links.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academic apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academic buildings necessitate the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

ECJC Graduation To Feature Gleazer On 'Your Business'

The final exercises of the school year 1957-58 will be observed May 23 at 8:00 p. m. in Huff Memorial Auditorium.

Dr. Edmund J. Gleazer, director of the American Association of Junior Colleges, will deliver the graduation address, making this address the occasion of his first visit to Mississippi. His topic for the address will be, "It is your Business."

The processional which will be composed of all candidates for graduation and the sponsors of the graduating classes will begin at 8:00 p. m. Rev. John Cook will give the invocation. Special music will be furnished by Harriet Manning, vocalist, and Mattie Helen Craig, pianist, after which President Vincent will present the speaker. The address will be followed by the presentation of special awards and recognition of honor students. Rev. Cook will offer the benediction.

Both the processional and the recessional will be played by Mr. Wade Johnson at the organ.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS AND REGALIA

THE COLLEGE MACE

The college Mace, carried at the head of the academic procession by the senior member of the faculty, symbolizes the authority of the office of the president. Originating in the Middle Ages as a hand weapon used by those who guarded officials, the Mace now represents a ceremonial symbol of office in academic processions. The East Central Community College Mace was designed and crafted by Mr. Larry Blackburn and Mr. Richard Clark, who were graduates of East Central and members of the faculty. The four sides of the Mace immediately under the flame have engraved on them the name of the College, the five supporting counties, the curricula offered, and the activities available to students.

THE PRESIDENT'S MEDALLION

The presidential medallion worn by Dr. Billy W. Stewart symbolizes the office of the president of East Central Community College. The bronze medallion was purchased in 2015 and depicts the college seal adopted during the college's 2020 Vision strategic planning process. It is suspended from a bronze chain with the names of the eight men who have served East Central as president on individual banners separated by links.

THE ACADEMIC APPAREL

The wearing of academic apparel originated in the Middle Ages. Drafty academic buildings necessitate the wearing of capes with hoods attached for warmth.

The gown is usually of black material. Bachelor's gowns have long pointed sleeves; master's have full-length square sleeves; and doctor's have fully, round, open sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The doctor's gowns are also faced with panels of velvet down the front.

The cap, the square mortarboard, is worn for all ranks and degrees. Switching of the tassel from right to left is customary when a degree is awarded.

The hood indicates the source of the degree. Candidates for associate in arts and bachelors degrees do not wear hoods. Master's hoods are approximately three and one half feet in length and doctor's are approximately four feet. The silk lining bears the colors of the college or university from which a degree was received. The colors of the velvet panel indicate the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.
